

Call for Contributions to an edited volume on Philipp Mainländer's Philosophy of Redemption

The 150th death anniversary of Philipp Mainländer coincides with an ever increasing popularity of his main work. It is therefore opportune to provide English speaking audiences with engaging scholarly essays on the Philosophy of Redemption.

The volume of essays will be edited by Stephan Atzert and Jacob Ritz (University of Queensland, Brisbane, Australia). We invite expressions of interest for contributions on any aspect of the Philosophy of Redemption preferably tied to any of the headings of the first volume (Analytics of the Cognitive Faculty, Physics, Aesthetics, Ethics, Politics, Metaphysics), or one the twelve essays of the second volume (available in German in the digital edition Mainländer im Kontext, Info Software 2011), in order to constitute a companion volume to PoR. The first volume of The Philosophy of Redemption is available in English translation by Christian Romuss (Irukandji Press 2024).

Please submit a succinct title, a short abstract of 300 words, and a short academic biography by the 30th of November 2026.

Please direct your expressions of interest to s.atzert@Tuq.edu.au